CHAPTER 1

Introduction and Methodology

1. Introduction

Research on the public financing of education in Pakistan reveals a disconnect between the actual needs demonstrated by the education data<sup>1</sup> and the budgetary allocations. The detachment between needs and allocations is reflected in the priorities set under the budget, which are seldom in accordance with the sector-wide priorities or communities' aspirations, especially at the district level. This mismatch results in inequitable distribution and ineffective utilization of resources.

In this context, Institute of Social and Policy Sciences (I-SAPS) has developed District Education Plan (DEP) for District Khairpur Mirs using Minimum Standards Planning (MSP). The plan sets precedence for need- and evidence-based planning and budgeting at the district level. Moreover, the plan attempts to reconcile the aspirations of stakeholders, mainly the residents of the district; fiscal realities, especially at the district tier; and a range of commitments on Education by the Government of Pakistan on various International forums.

The plan will facilitate effective utilization of available financial resources in an attempt to improve education indicators in the district. The DEP has been prepared under the project titled “Improving Access to and Quality of Education through Political Voice at District and Constituency Levels”. The project is being implemented with the assistance of Ilm Ideas' “Education, Voice and Accountability Fund.” It aims to promote the increased role of political leadership for greater accountability and transparency in the education sector in the district; thus contributing towards improved education governance and service delivery.

1.1 Setting the Context

Education system in Pakistan is fraught with challenges relating to access, quality and equity. Roughly, for every 10 children out of primary school across the globe, one lives in Pakistan<sup>2</sup>; placing the country second in the global ranking of out-of-school children. An estimated 20 million children of school-going age are out of school in the country<sup>3</sup>, where girls outnumber boys. Literacy rate for population 10 years of age or above is a mere 60 percent with wide gaps across male-female and urban-rural divides; whereas the net enrollment rate for primary level is 61 percent and 54 percent for boys and girls respectively<sup>4</sup>. Transition rates fall drastically from primary to elementary, elementary to secondary and then to higher secondary levels. Girls here again outnumber boys in dropping out of the education system, exhibiting a poor trend for transition. With such a profile, the state of education sector in Pakistan is not satisfactory.

The poor state of education has persisted in Pakistan despite that education has remained higher on Government's priority since independence, and has also been acknowledged as a basic human right in all constitutions of Pakistan. In fact, provision of free and compulsory education to children of 5-16 years of age has been acknowledged as a statutory fundamental right through the insertion of Article 25-A in the constitution<sup>5</sup> of Islamic Republic of Pakistan. Pakistan is also a signatory to various regional and international covenants and declarations on ensuring equitable access to quality education. Moreover, a number of policies, plans and strategies have also been developed and are being implemented at various levels to attain this end. Federal, Provincial and District Governments have been allocating and utilizing increasing portions of their annual budgets on a range of development and non-development schemes. However, the state of education has recorded only marginal improvement despite these initiatives and resource allocations. It has left the policy makers and the civil society pondering over two significant questions: a) why has the education sector not yielded the desired outcomes despite tremendous financial and human resource allocation, and b) how can the available fiscal space be utilized to attain optimum results.

Review of recent literature available on education research informs that planning for interventions aimed to improve the access and quality of education must be devolved to the level of service delivery with broad based participation from the local community. In Pakistan, the service delivery and planning of education is carried out at the district level across all the provinces. Where the intent of the policy is to make the planning process participatory in effect, education planning is largely carried out in reality by the district education managers without significant inputs from the community.

Another significant aspect of the devolved planning in Pakistan is its detachment from the evidence and specific needs of the community and the education apparatus at district level. Policy priorities and budgetary allocations for the development schemes are decided under political influence with little relevance to the needs highlighted by the data maintained in the Education Management Information Systems (EMIS). A related fact that contributes to the absence of EMIS data as significant criteria for resource allocation is that the data is maintained at the provincial level and informs largely the education planning at this tier alone. The annual planning and budgeting at district level hardly utilizes these information systems and data sets in identifying needs and setting targets to address the challenges in a strategic manner. As a result of the missing link between needs and targets, the challenges faced by a district remain partially or completely unaddressed despite planning and budgeting over the years.

Creating the linkage between needs and targets must go hand in hand with a nuanced appreciation of the budget realities and available fiscal space<sup>6</sup>. It is important to realize here that even if the district education management aligns the targets with the needs and policy priorities, the implementation of such an education plan will terminally depend upon the depth of available financial resources. The dichotomy between the resource availability and a needs-driven plan necessitates prioritization criteria for resource allocation, along with the need for transparency and accountability in resource utilization.

This highlights the need for developing robust linkage between education data, policy priorities and available finances. The organic connection between policy, planning and budgeting processes is fundamentally about having programs and interventions that are driven by policy priorities and disciplined by budget realities. In this context, I-SAPS has developed this five-year Education Plan for District Khairpur Mirs. The plan has been prepared using Minimum Standards Planning (MSP) technique which helps create desired linkage between data-based needs, policy priorities and available resources. The Plan identifies the issues and challenges faced by the district regarding equitable access to quality education. It identifies the needs of individual schools, prioritizes these needs against an objective criterion and sets the targets for the District Education Management so that challenges are addressed successfully over a specific period of time.

1.2 District Education Plan and its Significance

Education planning aims to achieve specific targets and objectives within available resources, ultimately contributing to the overall development of education sector in the country. The instrument of education planning is important as it helps focus on education policies and their implementation through evidence- and research-based planning, effective budgeting, and its transparent utilization. Education plans, like planning for other sectors, are designed across the developed world around data-based needs, and in accordance with the local fiscal realities. However, as mentioned earlier, the case in Pakistan is different – here exists disconnect between the data, policy and the budget.

Islamabad.; Oxfam & I-SAPS, 2010.; Renzio, Paolo de and Samantha Smith, (June, 2005), Linking Policies and Budgets: Implementing Medium Term Expenditure Frameworks in a PRSP Context, Briefing Paper, Overseas Development Institute (ODI), London; and The World Bank, (1998), Public Expenditure Management Handbook, Washington DC – Accessible at: <http://www1.worldbank.org/publicsector/pe/handbook/pem98.pdf>

This disconnect manifests itself even in the numerous attempts in the past, largely by the civil society organizations and international development partners to devise education plans aimed at service delivery levels. These plans found little support for being either too ambitious in terms of required resources, or for being at odds with the reform agenda of the government. More often, however, the plans proposed failed to rally behind them a negotiated support from one or all the major stakeholders such as district education management, local communities, and local political leaders etc.

For meaningful and result-oriented education planning at the service delivery level, it is important to understand that education planning in Pakistan is presently devolved to the District Education Management – first line of contact between the public education apparatus in the district and the local communities. The rationale behind devolution is to make education planning more participatory and consultative in nature. However, district education managers invite little input from the community – parents, local civil society members and organization – in the development and implementation of education plans. In absence of wide ownership of the plan, there arise concerns related to transparency and accountability in the implementation of plans. Also, priorities of the communities as regards the education of their children and the utilization of available resources remain outside the planning process.

The inability to carry out evidence-based planning that brings together data, policy and budget assume greater significance when viewed from the lens of Free and Compulsory Education, where under the Article 25-A of Constitution of Pakistan, the government is obligated to provide compulsory education to all the children between 5-16 years of age. The obligation cannot be fulfilled in the absence of robust participative planning, that reconciles priorities of local communities and reform agenda from the government, alongside setting realistic targets for equitable access to quality education with a nuanced appreciation for the budget realities.

It is in this context that Institute of Social and Policy Sciences (I-SAPS) has prepared District Education Plan for Khairpur District. As discussed earlier, the plan is based on robust linkage between policy, data and the budget. It is among the series of District Education Plans (DEPs) that I-SAPS has prepared for Rahim Yar Khan, Lodhran and Muzaffargarh districts. It is important to note that the plan, like its predecessors, has been developed using the Minimum Standards Planning (MSP) technique. The concept of MSP and the methodology adopted for preparation of this plan are presented below.

1.3 Methodology for Preparing DEP

The plan and its subsequent budgeting is based primarily on EMIS data for District Khairpur Mirs. Incremental targets for a range of indicators relating to the equitable access of quality education have been set for five years (2015-20). The targets are set in accordance with the policy priorities and decisions of the government besides factoring in the available fiscal space.

The plan starts with a comprehensive exercise on situation analysis on various education indicators and resource allocations. Secondary information and data gathered from government sources was thoroughly reviewed in this regard. Major sources reviewed and used for the situation analysis include the data available with the Reform Support Unit (RSU), Sindh; District Education Budget books of the District Khairpur Mirs; Pakistan Social and Living Standards Measurement Survey (PSLM) data; National Education Census (NEC) 2005; and data collected from District Education Department.

In addition to the situation analysis, the team adopted a consultative process to identify priorities and to set targets for the district education plan at hand. It is important to note that the process around priorities and target setting was participatory in nature. Major findings of the situation analysis were extensively shared with the local stakeholders in order to elicit informed feedback to set priorities and targets for the district education apparatus. In this regard, one-to-one meetings, briefings and focus group discussions were held with the key stakeholders at district level. Participants in these exercises included District education managers, members of School Management Committees (SMCs), and representatives of citizen groups, officials of civil society groups, bar council members, and other development partners working on education issues in the district.

The District Education Department is primarily responsible for the implementation of the Plan. They will have the ownership of the Plan as they provided key inputs for development of this education plan. Using this document, the education department can plan for the educational needs of the system in the years to come and can plan its resources accordingly. Members of School Management Committees (SMCs) and representatives of civil society present the voice of the local population and will help create a demand for implementation of the Plan.

1.4 Audience of the District Education Plan

The District Education Department, Khairpur Mirs, will potentially be responsible for the implementation of the plan; hence it is largely aimed at the department as the major audience. The plan or any part thereof can be subjected to amendment or revision by the department on periodic basis. Reform Support Unit may perform periodic monitoring and evaluation on the implementation of the plan. In addition to the District Education Department, the audience of the plan includes:

District Political Leadership: These include the public representatives – such as MNAs and MPAs – and the district party leaders of mainstream political parties who may utilize the evidence presented in the plan to prioritize allocation of resources to the most deprived schools and areas of the District. Additionally, the political leadership will be able to gauge the performance of District Education Management in terms of ensuring access to quality education in their district.

Parents and Citizens: The plan will help strengthen communities' voice for the provision of equitable access to education for their children in the district. As mentioned earlier, it will result in higher transparency and accountability in the implementation of plan with greater involvement of parents and community at large. Parents, who previously were aware only to the extent that their children's schools were lacking in basic facilities, will now be able to engage with the district administration and district education authorities in a meaningful and result-oriented manner. The plan will also empower them to track the allocation of resources in their districts in terms of current and development expenses.

Civil Society Organizations: Numerous civil society organizations working within the district will also be able to use the plan in order to mobilize the communities aiming at reducing the incidence of out-of-school children. They too will be able to engage meaningfully with the education managers in order to universalize the access to education alongside tracking the allocation of financial resources over an extended period of time.

Miscellaneous Development Partners working in the District: Although the District Education Plan is intended primarily for the District Education Management, local development partners working within and around the district can also make effective use of the plan in assisting the education managers. In addition to assistance and technical backstopping, the development partners can also build effective linkages between the education management and the local communities. Alongside raising a sense of ownership, the linkages will also strengthen the accountability and transparency in the processes leading up to the achievement of targets and successful implementation of the plan.

1.5 Limitations of the Plan

The plan concerns itself only with the aspects of access to quality education that fall within the purview of District Education Management. These include increasing enrollment, gender parity, provision of missing facilities in existing schools, and addressing student-teacher ratio imbalance etc. The plan does not include areas which are out of influence for the education management at the district level such as curriculum, teacher training, medium of instruction and etc. This dichotomy has been maintained deliberately in order to render the plan more practical and realistic for the education managers at the district level.

1.6 Scheme of the Plan

The plan consists of four sections. First section provides a brief introduction of the plan and the context in which it is prepared. Second section describes the Minimum Standards Planning as a concept and approach, and at length discusses the methodology adopted in setting priorities and targets for the district. Third section sketches a detailed narrative on the state of education in District Khairpur Mirs. It provides evidence-based analysis on a range of indicators related to the access and quality of education. Finally, section four sets the priorities and targets to be attained against these indicators over the period of next five years (2015-20).

Minimum Standards Planning (MSP): Concept and Methodology

CHAPTER 2

Minimum Standards Planning (MSP): Concept and Methodology

Planning is a basic management function. It is a process that entails formulation of goals and development of strategies to optimally satisfy needs and demands within the available resources. Effective planning is carried out at different levels of administration following a range of approaches. Top-down, bottom-up, collaborative - the selection of approach depends upon the goal to be attained through the planning.

Education planning in Pakistan is carried out at three levels: federal, provincial and district. Planning at the district level, owing to its bottom-up character, is called devolved planning. In theory, the District Education Agenda is formulated with a broad-based collaboration at the grassroots. The agenda, or more aptly the result of education planning, informed by the district specific needs and devised with the public participation creates ownership of the plan among the locals, which contributes to the successful implementation of the plan. However, in reality, the District Education Plans are developed by the district education managers with little participation and involvement of the public. The plans also have inadequate connection with the data-based needs of education sector.

It is pertinent here to present and discuss two major set of experiences related to the school and district level planning and budgeting experimented by development partners in Pakistan. In the first instance, the government decreed a set of specifications and standards in order to setup primary and secondary schools in different areas. The standard package of guidelines proved ineffective as it failed to identify and address unique needs of each school and its corresponding area. Earlier research in this regard informs that standard package of establishing a school results in inefficiencies and lack of rationalization as it neither provides solutions for schools requiring additional resources nor gives an alternate plan for schools with low enrollment<sup>7</sup>.

7 Mitchell, Jonathan. (January 2008). How Information-Based Planning can flourish Where traditional Politics Reign: An Example from Pakistan. Journal of Education for International Development, 3:2.

In the second instance, the development partners in collaboration with the government came up with a bottom-up mechanism to develop School Based Budgets (SBB) and School Development Plans (SDPs). The plans and budgets were prepared at the school level and promised to project school-specific needs for resources. It envisaged identifying the needs of each school, which would then be aggregated at the district level and then the resources would be allocated to all schools accordingly. Since this planning lacked consultation and a clear connection with budgetary realities, it resulted in a long wish list instead of a viable plan at the district levels. It in fact aggravated the problem for the district management, who had already been constrained by the tight fiscal space. In the context of Pakistan, SDPs and SBB proved to be unrealistic and impractical approaches to planning and budgeting as they did not reconcile with the existing district level education planning and budgeting system.

Education planning and budgeting process can be improved, especially at district level in Pakistan, by introducing a mechanism that brings together the policy, budget and the education data. Minimum Standards Planning (MSP) – that allows the planners to set priorities based upon the evidence and available fiscal space - can be employed as an effective tool in this regard. The concept is discussed in detail in this chapter alongside a reference to the scope it offers to the District Education Managers for Education Planning.

2.1 Conceptual Understanding

Minimum Standards Planning (MSP) is a planning tool that helps to define minimum standards and realistic targets to be attained within specific time-frame. MSP can be particularly useful when time-bound goals are pursued within minimum resources, as is the case for Education planning in Pakistan. The approach allows setting a reform agenda that has a robust connection between education data, policy and budgeting so that the most pressing needs of the education sector can be addressed on priority basis.

Resource allocation for each school under the MSP is informed by the education management information systems (EMIS) maintained by the government. District wide data is aggregated and targets are set in terms of enrollment, GER, number of classrooms, missing facilities and etc for each school. The minimum standards of provisions to schools against these targets comply with the national standards determined and approved by the government. Moreover, the targets under the MSP are set in accordance with a) available fiscal space with the district government, b) reform agenda for education formulated at the provincial level, and c) needs highlighted by the data collected and maintained under the EMIS. It is important to note that the target setting under MSP is preceded by prioritizing allocation of resources in order to bridge gap between the needs and provision are established through broad-based participation of the public. Reform Agenda arrived at through MSP is, therefore, politically owned and technically sound. Since the priorities and targets set using MSP are linked to the policy priorities, they dovetail with the on-going reform agenda of the province and districts. The policy priorities and reform agenda of the government serve as a coordinating vector to rally the support of all relevant stakeholders for evidence based education planning using MSP tool.

Minimum Standards Planning alongside introducing a considerable extent of responsiveness to local needs also ensures accountability and transparency in the implementation of District Plans. Since the planning exercise includes broad-based participation of the public in setting targets and priorities; resulting mass-ownership and oversight enhances the prospects of successful implementation of Education Plans and promotes a culture of transparency and accountability in the functioning of district education department.

2.2 Objectives of MSP

The objective of MSP is to establish an organic link between policy, education data and budget so that resource allocation is based on clear reform agenda in line with actual needs and popular support. District Education Plans devised using the MSP tools are further aimed to:

- a) Improve the access to continuing education/additional facilities at an approachable distance by setting the annual minimum standards according to the available/ likely to be available resources;
- b) Materialize the national and international commitments made by the Government of Pakistan at various International Forums;
- c) Minimize the existing gender/ rural and urban disparity in GER;
- d) Make optimum use of existing education facilities; and
- e) Improve the rate of admission and retention at school level education by providing basic facilities in schools on priority basis.

2.3 Methodology of Minimum Standards Planning

Students are at the center of District Education Plans devised through Minimum Standards Planning. The targets and minimum standards set under the DEP are aimed at increasing the access to quality education to the children in District Khairpur Mirs. The plan, therefore, envisages to raise standards for various inputs in schools from the number of teachers to the number of classrooms; from the provision of missing facilities to improving gender-parity in schools and etc.

The unit of analysis for the District Education Plan at hand is students. Most of the inputs for quality education, if not all, have children between 5 to 16 years of age as the common divisor. Planning is carried out not only for the children of the said age-group enrolled in the public schools already, but also for the children who will enter the public schools by 2019-20.

It is important to note that the target standards for various inputs, such as Student-Teacher ratio, Student-Classroom ratio, number of toilets in the schools and etc, projected in the plan are in accordance with the standards prescribed and used by the government. Therefore, plans developed through MSP offer the District Education Managers an opportunity to pursue the goal of quality education for all the children in district Khairpur without concern for any administrative backlash.

It is worth mentioning here that Minimum Standards Planning is not a one-time exercise. It is rather a continuous process that involves planning, monitoring and re-adjustment of priorities, targets and resources. MSP include following steps: situation analysis, prioritizing issues, setting minimum standards and targets, budget projection and allocations, as well as implementation of the plan.

i. Situation Analysis to Identify Needs

Analyzing the situation surrounding education sector in the district is the first step of Minimum Standards Planning. It is only after a thorough analysis that we may arrive at actual needs at the schools across the district. These needs can be identified by studying the information systems and data-set maintained by the government. Education Management Information Systems at the national, provincial and district levels provide detailed information regarding the facilities, infrastructure and human resources at schools across districts in the province. However, the data pertaining to the learning outcomes is collected and maintained by related departments in the province. In case of Sindh,

Education and Literacy Department Sindh conducts learning assessments for 5th and 8th grade, called Standardized Achievement Tests (SAT) across the province. The data hence collected for the Situation Analysis is of critical importance for setting priorities and targets during consultative planning.

ii. Determine Financial Resource-base

The second step in Minimum Standards Planning is to determine the total fiscal space available to pursue reforms. Net financial resources available to schools across the district come from one of the two levels – provincial and district. At provincial level this includes resources available to the sector from revenue at provincial level and donor assistance, especially the budgetary support. At district level this relates a) to the funds at the disposal of district education management, and b) to the education development budget at provincial level. It is imperative that the available resource-base at both the levels is fully mapped so target setting under the MSP is carried out in accordance with the fiscal realities.

iii. Prioritization of Challenges and Needs: Consultation and Consensus among Stakeholders

Under the Minimum Standards Planning, resources are allocated for the achievement of targets based upon certain prioritization criteria. The education sector always faces the challenge of prioritizing competing claims on available scarce resources. Generally, politicized prioritization is a common practice in Pakistan. However, the MSP envisages a broad-based participation in deciding the prioritization criteria. For the purpose of Minimum Standards Planning for District Khairpur Mirs, numerous FGDs were conducted with the local residents. Criteria for prioritization of schools for provision of missing facilities, additional recruitment, additional classroom and etc. were thoroughly discussed in these discussions. It was decided that in terms of resource allocation, girls' schools will take precedence over that of boys with similar enrollment. From the competition of resources among same gender schools, the ones with higher enrollment will receive higher priority. In terms of provision of missing facility, the resources will first be spent on build toilets, followed by boundary walls, drinking water and electricity respectively.

iv. Setting the Targets

After the determination of criteria for prioritization, the targets are set for the various indicators related to the access and quality of education in district Khairpur Mirs. Target setting has been geared to improve the state of education in the district within five years between the baseline and target year i.e. 2015-20.

v. Resource Allocation and Utilization

Once the fiscal space is mapped, next step under the plan is to identify the maximum utility within the available resources. In this regards, the data-based needs of the district Khairpur Mirs were viewed through the lens of available resource envelop and the policy priorities. Two major policy priorities define the resource allocation under this plan: a) ensuring equal access to education for girls, and b) universalizing free access to quality education for all the children between 5-16 years of age. Policy priorities and information system have thus been inter-linked with the budgetary process in order to make informed and transparent allocations.

vi. Review and Re-adjustment of Resources according to Changing Policy

Planning is a continuous process. Feedback in the wake of implementation readjusts priorities and targets. Any change in the reform agenda by the government immediately affects the priorities accorded to various aspects of access and quality of education. Similarly, emergencies or disasters may warrant a complete overhaul of set targets and priorities, and may even send the planners back to the drawing board. Annual budgetary and planning cycle must, therefore, be fully responsive to these changes. In case of the plan at hand, review is an on-going activity whereby the data collected by the government will allow continuous comparison with the set-benchmarks and milestones, and allow the education managers to steer the district to universal enrollment and gender parity in access to education.

Minimum Standards Planning for District Khairpur

CHAPTER 3

Minimum Standards Planning for District Khairpur

District Education Plan for Khairpur Mirs using the Minimum Standards Planning is presented below.

3.1 Step One: Situation Analysis

Situation analysis is the first step in Minimum Standards Planning. The situation and, by extension, the context has been defined by first giving a brief profile of the District Khairpur including its demographics. Secondly, a range of indicators pertaining to the access and quality of education have been provided. These include literacy, enrollment, learning outcomes, number of schools, number of teachers and etc. The situation analysis concludes with a discussion on the district education budget for FY 2014-15.

3.1.1 Profile of District Khairpur Mirs

Khairpur Mirs - a district in the Sindh province of Pakistan - has an area of 15,910 square km. The population of the district stood at 1.5 million in 1998 according to the census of Pakistan – where 24 percent of the population lived in urban areas. Average annual growth rate of the population in 2013-14 was around 2.80 percent.

It is worth keeping in mind that there are an estimated 0.80 million children in the district between 5 and 16 years of age - girls constitute 48 percent of this population. Out of the total children, only an estimated 0.36 million children (45.6 percent) are enrolled in schools. The situation becomes precarious when these statistics are considered from the lens of Right to Free and Compulsory Education, under which the province is constitutionally<sup>8</sup> responsible to bring all the children of age 5-16 years of age in schools.

8 The Article 25-A of the Constitution of Islamic Republic of Pakistan states: "The State shall provide free and compulsory education to all children of the age of five to sixteen years in such manner as may be determined by law."

3.1.2 Education Statistics of Khairpur

Detailed analysis of education statistics of District Khairpur is given here with an aim to highlight major issues and challenges in the education sector:

3.1.2.1 Literacy Rate (10+ Population)

In 2012-13<sup>9</sup>, literacy rate for the population above 10 years old in district Khairpur Mirs stood at 53 percent. Literacy rate for male (71 percent) was higher than that for the female population (33 percent). Also, the literacy rates were unevenly distributed across the urban (64 percent) and rural (48 percent) divide. It is pertinent to note that the literacy among men was recorded higher in both the urban and rural settings.

3.1.2.2 Enrollment

Out of an estimated 0.80 million children between 5-16 years of age, only around 0.31 million children are enrolled in the education apparatus, private and public, in the district. Around 81 percent of these children are enrolled in the public schools, while the rest are catered to by the private sector. At primary level, more girls (22 percent) are enrolled in the private schools as compared to the boys (19 percent). Parental preference to enroll girls in the private schools can plausibly be attributed to the poor state of basic facilities in the public schools, as mentioned later in the plan. It must be noted here that given these statistics, 0.49 million (61 percent) children are still out of school in the district. The number of children in and out of schools is presented below:

Source: Education and Literacy Department (ELD), Government of Sindh Data for Enrollment in Public Schools and NEC Data Projections for Private Schools.

Before we proceed with the discussion on enrollment and with the plan in general, it is important to note that the private schools fall out of the purview of this plan. It is largely because the private schools are independent in their operations, and that the interventions proposed under this plan are required to be launched by the District Education Management for public schools in the district. Hence, only the enrollment and related indicators in government schools will form the basis of debate here. Enrollment statistics against corresponding levels of education is presented below:

Source: ELD, Government of Sindh

3.1.2.3 Gross Enrollment Rate (GER)

Gross Enrollment Rate<sup>10</sup> for primary and secondary levels stands at an estimated 51 percent and 30 percent respectively in District Khairpur. Simply put, only 51 percent of the total number of children in the district belonging to school-going age-group is enrolled in primary schools while only 30 percent children are enrolled in the secondary schools.

Source: I-SAPS Calculations

<sup>10</sup> GER Definition: Total enrollment in a specific level of education, regardless of age, expressed as a percentage of the eligible official school-age population corresponding to the same level of education in a given school year.

Gender disaggregated data indicates that the GER for girls is lower than that of boys at both primary and secondary levels. Moreover, the sharp decline in GER for transition from primary to secondary level is indicative of high drop-out rates at these levels.

3.1.2.4 Number of Schools and Classrooms

There are a total of 3,470 schools in District Khairpur. The data indicates that the highest number of schools are primary, followed by middle, secondary and higher secondary respectively. Out of the total number of schools, 90.5 percent (3,140) are primary, 5.5 percent (191) are middle, 3.4 percent (118) are secondary, while 0.6 percent (21) are higher secondary schools. The disproportionately small number of middle, secondary and higher secondary schools in comparison with the primary schools has implications for the Sindh government apropos to its commitment under the Article 25-A. It is likely to become increasingly difficult for the provincial government to cater to the educational needs of children rapidly pouring in the education system at these levels in the next few years.

Source: I-SAPS Calculations

In addition to the number of schools, it is pertinent here to present the number of classrooms at the corresponding levels. At present, there are 7,517 classrooms in schools at various levels. Out of the total number of classrooms, 5,265 are in primary schools, 829 in middle, 1,090 in secondary and 333 in higher secondary schools.

3.1.2.5 Number of Teachers

The total number of teachers in District Khairpur stands at 9,344. Highest number of teachers is employed in primary schools, followed by secondary, middle and higher secondary schools respectively. The rise and fall in the number of teachers across various levels i.e. primary, elementary, secondary and higher secondary is inconsistent with the enrollment statistics (as discussed earlier). Distribution of teachers across various levels in the district is presented below:

3.1.2.6 Student-Teacher Ratio

As mentioned earlier, there are around 9,344 teachers in the District Khairpur. These teachers are deputed to address the educational needs of 306,550 children enrolled at various levels i.e. primary, middle, secondary and higher secondary. Level-wise disaggregated data reveals that there are 5,521 teachers for 193,183 children at primary; 1061 teachers for 28,994 children at middle; 2083 teachers for 61,096 children at secondary; and 679 teachers for 23,277 children at the higher secondary levels. Estimated student-teacher ratios for these levels are presented below:

3.1.2.7 Learning Outcomes

The Reform Support Unit (RSU) of Education and Literacy Department, Sindh Government, recently initiated a comprehensive system for assessing the progress of children for grade V and grade VIII

across the province. These are compulsory examinations for all the children hailing from these grades in both private and public schools in Sindh. Overall performance of children on these assessments at the provincial level is quite poor – average score in three subjects i.e. Languages, Mathematics and Science for grade V is 29.9 percent, 17.09 percent, and 17.74 percent respectively; while the average score for the same subject in grade VIII stood at 37.01 percent, 13.73 percent, 17.01percent respectively. On average, learners appearing for tests in three subjects across the province scored 21.44 percent and 22.6 percent on grade V and grade VIII examinations respectively. It is worth noting here that despite this seemingly poor performance, Khairpur stands 3rd in grade VIII assessment in the ranking of districts in Sindh. Detailed statistics on learning progress in three subjects in District Khairpur is described in figure 10 in comparison with the average learning progress in the province:

3.1.2.8 Schools without Basic Facilities

Provision of basic facilities such as boundary walls, toilets, clean drinking water, playgrounds, electricity, and fans etc., are a pre-requisite for promoting secure and healthy learning environment and increasing enrollment. In some cases, these facilities are the only difference between sustained enrollment and dropouts.

The data reveals that out of the total number of public schools in District Khairpur, an estimated 385 schools are without the building, 668 schools are without potable water facility, 1,292 are without electricity, 1,411 schools operate without a boundary wall, while there are 1,063 schools in the district that do not have toilets. These statistics are presented in figure 11 in percentage terms:

Source: ELD, Government of Sindh

In addition to the above data, it is worthwhile to note that the number of schools which have the four, so called package-facilities i.e. potable water, toilets, boundary walls, and electricity, stand at a mere estimated 1,304 in district Khairpur. The following chart presents the percentage of schools with and without basic facilities:

Source: ELD, Government of Sindh

Alternatively, the number of schools in the district without the above mentioned package-facilities i.e. water, toilet, boundary wall and electricity is 252 schools, where the major chunk is that of primary schools (242 schools), while the remaining share of schools goes to the secondary level. It can be safely asserted that out of the total 3470 schools in District Khairpur, 7.3 percent schools (252 schools) do not meet the basic standards for facilities to provide education.

3.1.3 Education Budget of District Khairpur Mirs

For the fiscal year 2014-15, a total budget of Rs. 7,214 million has been allocated to meet the educational needs of district Khairpur. 97 percent (7,024 million) of the total allocation has been earmarked for the current expenses, while only 3 percent (190 million) has been set aside for the development expenses.

Moreover, it is important here to dissect the amount earmarked for the current expenses. Out of the net allocation for current expenses, 93% was apportioned for salary and related expenses while only 7 percent was allocated for non-salary purposes such as school maintenance, purchase of textbooks, learning and teaching aids etc. Budgetary allocations 2014-15 for Khairpur Mirs are presented in the figure 13.

3.2 Step Two: Priority Setting

A consultative meeting was arranged with various stakeholders in District Khairpur Mirs in order to set the priorities for allocation of resources towards access to quality education. Participants in the consultation included representatives from District Education Department, School Management Committees, Civil Society Organizations and mainstream political parties. The situation analysis as presented above was shared in detail with the stakeholders. Majority of the participants were of the view that provision of additional classrooms and missing facilities in schools were fundamental requisites for improving enrollment in public schools, especially that of girls.

Provision of missing facilities in the schools alongside building new classrooms in the existing schools were decided as urgent priorities for the district's allocation of financial resources. After setting the priorities, a planning exercise was also carried out to rationalize the allocation of limited resources over a large number of existing schools in the district. It was decided that the girls' schools will take precedence over boys schools as regards the allocation of resources. From among girls' schools, those with higher enrollment will still take precedence over the ones with lesser enrollment.

Similar exercise was conducted to set the priority for the provision of missing facilities in schools. It was decided that the financial allocations for toilet blocks will take the highest priority, followed by boundary walls. High priority was accorded to these facilities in view of the cultural and social norms as well as security concerns of the parents. Provision of water and electricity respectively received lower priority by the participants in terms of the allocation of available resources.

3.3 Step Three: Target Setting and Planning based on Minimum Standards

3.3.1 Enrollment

There is an estimated enrollment of 0.31 million children of age 5-16 years in the public schools in District Khairpur. In comparison with the present state, the plan targets to raise enrollment to 0.51 million children in public schools by 2019-20. Against the present enrollment of estimated 193,183 children in primary; 28,994 in middle, 61,096 children in high; and 23,277 children in higher secondary; the plan targets the enrollment of additional 126,248; 18,948; 39,927; 15,212 children at primary, middle, secondary and higher secondary levels respectively. The highest number of enrollment under the plan is envisaged at the primary level, followed by the secondary, middle and higher secondary levels. A total of 200,335 additional children are targeted for enrollment into the educational system in District Khairpur Mirs by the FY 2019-20.

Year-wise distribution of additional enrollments to achieve targeted enrollment by 2019-20 is presented in figure 15.

Source: I-SAPS Calculations

3.3.2 Gross Enrollment Ratio

Public schools at primary and secondary levels in district Khairpur currently present an estimated GER of 51 percent and 30 percent respectively. The plan targets to achieve the GER of 80 percent and 40 percent for primary and secondary levels respectively till 2019-20. Statistics on GER in the base year

Table 1: Gross Enrollment Rate (GER) Targets

|                  | 2014-15 | 2019-20 |
|------------------|---------|---------|
| Girls     |         |         |

compared with that in the target year in the table 1. The target GER accounts for the growth rate in population for subsequent years till 2019-20.

3.3.3 Number of Schools

There are 3,470 schools in District Khairpur Mirs at present. The plan envisages increasing the number to a total of 3,595 schools, 125 additional, in the district by the target year, 2019-20. Additional schools under the plan include 100 middle, 20 secondary and 5 schools for the higher secondary level. The details are presented below in the table:

Table 2: Number of Schools – Target (2019-20)

|                   | Base Year2014-15 | Target Year2019-20 |
|-------------------|----------------------|------------------------|
| Primary           | 3,140                | 3,140                  |
| Middle/Elementary | 191                  | 291                    |

3.3.4 Number of Teachers

Presently, total number of teachers in district Khairpur stands at 9,344. The plan targets to recruit 3,798 additional teachers for various levels i.e. primary, middle, secondary and higher secondary till 2019-20. The highest number of additional teachers is envisaged for the primary level; followed by secondary, higher secondary and middle levels.

Against the current status of estimated 5,521 teachers at primary, 1,061 teachers at middle, 2,083 teachers at the secondary and 679 teachers for the higher secondary levels; the plan envisages a total of 13,142 teachers in the district by 2019-20. The bulk of this figure – 7,986 teachers – will be deployed for the primary level, followed by 2,971 for secondary, 1,199 for middle, and 987 for the higher secondary schools.

Moreover, it is also important to disaggregate the year-wise increase in terms of various educational levels i.e. primary, middle, secondary and higher secondary. Annual benchmarks against recruitment of additional teachers are presented in the figure 16.

3.3.5 Student Teacher Ratio

Against the current student-teacher ratio of 35:1, 27:1, 29:1 and 34:1 at primary, middle, secondary and higher secondary levels respectively, the plan targets to adjust the ratio to 40, 40, 34 and 39 for these level by 2019-20. The adjustment in student-teacher ratio is in line with international best practices and tenets of efficient resource utilization. It also affords an opportunity to the government to meet the challenge of universal enrollment under Article 25-A through available resource base.

3.3.6 Basic Facilities

As mentioned in the situation analysis earlier, there is considerable backlog for missing facilities in the existing public schools across District Khairpur. Out of the total 3470 schools in the district; 385 are without shelter, 1292 are without electricity, 668 do not have access to water, 1063 are without toilets and 1411 schools are operating without boundary walls.

A total of 2.19 billion rupees are required, spread over the period of next five years, in order to clear the existing backlog. The funds must be employed in a manner pursuant of certain priorities from the community. For the purpose of this plan, numerous FGDs were carried out at the community level to determine the criterion for selection and prioritization of schools for the provision of missing facilities. It emerged as almost a unanimous sentiment across communities that any criteria to prioritize schools for the provision of missing facilities should be geared towards improving girls' access to education. The year-wise incremental projection for the budgetary allocations to clear the backlog of missing facilities is presented in the figure 17.

Source: I-SAPS Calculations

3.3.7 Provision of Classrooms

There are a significant number of schools in District Khairpur where the student-classroom ratio is too high for effective teaching and learning. In a number of cases, the ratio of classroom to students exceeds 1:150. Against the present state of affairs, the plan envisages bringing ratio of classroom to students to 1:40, 1:35, 1:35 and 1:40 for primary, middle, secondary and higher secondary levels by 2019-20. Currently, there are a total of 7,517 classrooms in the district. The plan targets to raise this number to 9,623 for various levels till 2019-20. The incremental rise in the number of classrooms across various levels till 2019-20 as envisaged under the plan is presented in the figure 18. Alongside the rise in number of classrooms at various levels, the plan targets to incrementally bring down the existing high students to classroom ratio through to the target year, 2019-20.

3.4 Step Four: Budget Required for Achieving the Targets

District Khairpur Mirs will require an additional 8.11 billion rupees to achieve the targets set under the plan. In this regard, 73 percent (5.9 billion) of the total will be required for the current expenditure while 27 percent (2.2 billion) must be allocated for the development expenses. Year-wise distribution of funds required for the plan is given below:
